Family Representatives Attend Historic Ground-breaking

By Pearl Varner, President, Romulus Historical Society

Last Saturday, the day was warm and sunny when approximately 150 people gathered together to celebrate the ground-breaking for two historic buildings: the Samuel R. Kingsley house and the Peter C. Bird house. The program was held in the beautiful Historic Park in downtown Romulus.

Approximately 14 members of the Romulus Historical Society dressed in period clothing representing either the 1860s or the 1890s. The Riverside Big Band played both before and after the program. Many Romulus city officials and Historical Society and Historical Commission members, along with U.S. Congresswoman Lynn Rivers, took part in the official ceremony.

A brief history of each house was given.

The Peter C. Bird house, built in 1878, was first owned by Peter C. and his wife, Mary Jane (Morris) Bird. The

In times when so much negative press is written about teens, it was very impressive to attend the recent awards program at Romulus High School. There were so many "Class of '95" students presented with awards.

Our family was especially proud of our daughter, Michele Dick, who was recognized several times throughout the evening. Michele received the following awards and scholarships:

- Social Studies Department Award,
- Academic Excellence Award,
- Kiwanis Scholastic Achievement Award,
- Society of Women Engineers Award
- United Air Force Mathematics and

Science Award,

- American Legion Health and Science Scholarship,
- Romulus Association of School Administrators Scholarship,
- Ray A. Kroc Scholarship,
- Michigan Competitive Scholarship,
- Grand Valley State University Honors Scholarship,
- Student Excellence Scholarship, and
- acknowledgment for her service as the Vice-president of Romulus High School's Class of 1995.

The entire family is extremely proud of Michele's accomplishments. We know that she is a hard worker and will keep up the great work to reach her future goals. GREAT JOB, MICHELE!

Lansing Update

For Week of May 22, 1995

By State Representative Greg Pitoniak Consumer Alert on Toxic Pesticide

The Michigan Department of Agriculture (MDA) is currently investigating the presence of Methyl Parathion (a highly toxic, restricted-use pesticide) in pest-control products which may be used by unsuspecting consumers for indoor insect pest control. At this point in the investigation, the MDA is issuing a consumer advisory for the following products which may contain Methyl Parathion: Hudson's Ant and Roach Killer and Dynamite Roach Killer. These products are in liquid form. Consumers should also avoid any suspicious pesticide purchased in a container with no label. Anyone wanting more information about the health impacts of Methyl Parathion can call the MDA at 517-373-1087.

DNR Proposes License Fee Increases

Hunting and fishing in Michigan would become more expensive under a proposal that the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) recently introduced. The DNR wants to raise the cost of fishing licenses for Michigan residents from $10.35 to $13. Hunting licenses are proposed for $13. There would be significant increases for seniors' licenses and a requirement that 14- and 15-year-olds be licensed for the first time at half the cost of an adult license. Non-resident fees would be raised from $20.85 to $25. License fees were last increased in 1986. The DNR will hold 12 public forums around the State seeking input on the fee increases.

Public Won't Support Repeal of School Code

A move to repeal the State's School Code has been stopped in its tracks — due, in part, to the efforts of lawmakers and concerned citizens who voiced their opinion that, by repealing the Code, the State might be "throwing the baby out with the bath water."

Governor Engler's proposal to throw out State regulations for schools and allow districts to establish their own will be toned down. A slower, more sensible "revision" of the current School Code is considered to be a better solution for our schools.

The Chair of the House Democratic Task Force on Education has traveled the State, conducting several public hearings. Representative Jim Agee (D-Muskegon) believes that it is becoming obvious to those who oppose the repeal of the School Code that a majority of the people want us to take a closer and more responsible look at reforming our education system.

Representative Greg Pitoniak

A Renowned Consumer Advocate Slams Product Liability Bill

National consumer advocate Ralph Nader began his fight last week against the Republican bill (SB 344) to restrict lawsuits against manufacturers of faulty products.

Nader says this legislation would weaken judicial law and order against corporate wrongdoers and regulate our courts — all for the corporate funders of Governor Engler's political career. He also states that it is reflective of a governor who puts political ambition above the health, safety, and justice of the people he's elected to serve. Nader says that if the bill passes the Legislature, he'll push for a Statewide vote to overturn it.

Michigan Is a Step Closer To Open Presidential Primary

Currently, under the Michigan Election Law, a voter must declare a party preference within 30 days of a presidential primary election to be eligible to vote in that election, and then can only vote for a candidate of that party. House Bill 4435 would amend the election law to eliminate the party preference requirements (thus establishing an open presidential primary) and would delete references to the party preferences of voters from various sections of the act, including such references on registration documents.

This bill passed the House recently, and I was among the supporters of the measure. □

STUDENTS RECEIVE AWARDS

One of the scholarships awarded to Jason Chmura (above) was from the Romulus Alumni Association, and totaled $1,000. It was one of many scholarships available to Romulus High School's seniors thanks to the support of local residents, businesses, and community organizations.

RHS Students Attend World Affairs Program

By John Domas, Counselor, Romulus High School

Four Romulus High School students will attend the Nineteenth Annual World Affairs Seminar at the University of Wisconsin, thanks to scholarships awarded by local clubs and organizations. The seminar has been scheduled for June 11-16, 1995.

The recipients of the scholarships, valued at $275, are Brian Daniel Holbrook, son of Paul and Marval Holbrook of Romulus (sponsored by the Romulus Progressive Club); Myra Lynn Lockhart, daughter of Sandra Lockhart of Romulus (sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club); Ebony Chanté Sandusky, daughter of Elizabeth Sandusky of Romulus (sponsored by the Romulus Kiwanis Club); and Damond Allen Williams, son of Roosevelt and Willie Williams of Romulus (sponsored by the Romulus Rotary Club).

The World Affairs Seminar is a personalized educational program for specially selected high school students. Its primary purpose is to bring about a better understanding of world problems on the part of high school students through a study of current issues, while at the same time providing the opportunity to discuss those issues with young people from the countries involved.

Emphasis is placed upon promoting a better understanding of the causes of world conflict with the thought that if the causes are understood, world problems are more likely to be solved peacefully.

Students from foreign lands will make up about one-fifth of the total number of participants and will be coming from 50 different countries through several exchange programs. This will enable both U.S. students and foreign students to learn about the customs, traditions, aspirations, and heritage of each other. There will be approximately 1,000 high school students from throughout the United States and Canada, along with 250 foreign exchange students.

The experience of living on a college campus will be both exciting and educational. Students will have five nights' lodging in a double-occupancy dormitory room; all meals, including a banquet; a chance to hear various speakers, see films, participate in panels and group discussions, and view foreign exhibits; and receive portfolios and other seminar materials. University recreational facilities are open for student use, as is the University Health Center for emergency health care.

I would like to thank the following people for their assistance in making it possible to send so many well-qualified students to this seminar: Mae Jackson and Bill Knight, counselors; Gerald Nault, member, Romulus Progressive and Romulus Kiwanis clubs; Michael Prybyla, member, Romulus Rotary Club; Susan Vogel-Anderson and Kathy Hurst, teachers; Melvin Kimbrough, Mike Teasdale, and Tom Dolan, principals; Judy Nutt, Guidance Office secretary; and Marge Bergman, secretary. □

Franzen Brothers Circus Is Comin' to Romulus!

By Mark Lewkowicz, Second Vice-president, Romulus Chamber of Commerce

For the third time, the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a special appearance of the Franzen Brothers Circus in the City of Romulus. Two 90-minute shows, one at 4:30 p.m. and one at 7 p.m., will be specially featured at the event, which will take place on Monday, June 26, at Romulus Senior Citizens' Park. Parking will be accessible from Olive Street, south of Bibbins (near downtown Romulus), only.

Tickets (good for either show) will be $5 in advance or $7 at the door. Children two and under will be admitted free.

The circus trucks will begin to arrive at around 8 a.m. on Monday to prepare for the shows later that day. At approximately 9 a.m., spectators will be able to see Okha the elephant pull the massive tent poles, raising the canvas high into the air to erect a tent that will seat 1,200 people by showtime. If you bring your lawn chair and sit under the tall oak trees at Senior Citizens' Park, you'll have a perfect vantage point to see the actual setting up, and there is no charge to watch.

The circus midway is an impressive site. One attraction will be the petting zoo, which will open at 3:30 p.m., one hour before the first show. Admission to the petting zoo is $1. Also beginning at 3:30 p.m., there will be pony and elephant rides offered; each costs $2. In addition, the Romulus Fire Department will have one of its trucks on display for the children to examine. A concession stand will be available to serve a variety of refreshments.

A coloring contest will be distributed to Romulus elementary school students by Shelly Delano of the Romulus Public Library. She will be visiting the schools to promote a reading program called "books under the big top." The children will color a picture of a clown and bring it to the circus, where three prizes will be awarded at each show. You must be present to win.

When the show begins inside the big top, you and your family will be treated to a variety of entertainment including clowns, aerialists, magicians, elephants, lions, tigers, horses, Appaloosa ponies, camels, llamas, and more. Wayne Franzen, a former industrial arts teacher, is living his dream by presenting this circus for the twenty-second year in a row.

By the following day, the circus will once again be a memory as it disappears and moves to the next town. The Franzen Brothers Circus performs seven days a week, nine months out of the year.

We are anticipating a large turnout for each show. The Chamber, which will receive part of the proceeds from ticket sales to use for its various community projects, will benefit the most from advance-ticket sales, and you'll benefit by purchasing advance tickets, too, since they are being offered at a discount price of $5. No advance tickets will be available for sale on the day of the show; however, tickets will be sold for $7 at the circus ticket office that day.

Advance tickets may be purchased at the following Romulus locations: Captain Nemo's, Comerica Bank, Dave & Company Hair Salon, Family Pharmacy, First of America Bank, Kozy Corner, Romulus City Hall (Treasurer's Office), Romulus Chamber of Commerce (located at the Clarion), Romulus Schools (administration building), Romulus Hardware, Romulus IGA, Romulus Recreation Department, and Sister Act Deli & Catering.

For more information about the Franzen Brothers Circus, please call Karan Johnson, Chamber Secretary, at 326-4290 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. □

Who discovered radioactivity?

Marie Curie probably never dreamed she would grow up to be one of the most famous scientists in the world when she was a little girl in Poland.

Both Marie and her older sister Bronya wanted to go to school at the Sorbonne in Paris because in those days, girls weren't allowed to go to college in Poland. Marie's family didn't have enough money to send both daughters so Marie told her sister to go.

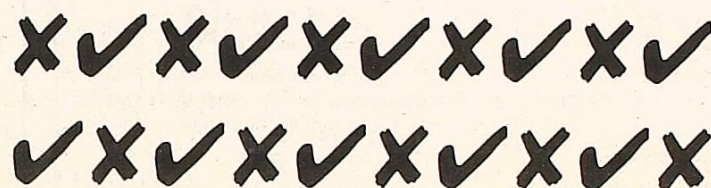

Finally, when she was 24, Marie went to the Sorbonne too. She was very poor and often ate only bread and tea.

Marie married a fellow scientist, Pierre Curie, when she was 27 and they began to work together.

Their most famous discovery was radioactivity, in particular two radioactive elements — radium and polonium. Although radiation can be used to treat cancer, too much of it is lethal, and Marie's life was shortened by her dangerous work.

Nevertheless, Marie Curie's discoveries were so important that she won the Nobel Prize in 1911. Albert Einstein admired her, and so do scientists everywhere.

Trick questions

Most tests test what you know rather than how smart you are. Teachers know this and so sometimes they make up trick tests that don't ask you anything you've studied but try to test other qualities like your creativity or your ability to follow directions.

In one test given to sixth grade students, the teacher wrote at the top: "Read the whole test before you begin." The students who followed the directions saw that at the end of the test, the teacher had written: "Do not do any problems in this test," and they stopped. Kids who didn't read the directions did all the problems only to find out they had failed!

A law professor once gave an exam with only one problem. It said: "Write an exam question and answer it." One student outwitted the professor by writing just two sentences: "Write an exam question and answer it. Write an exam question and answer it." The professor gave him an A.

HISTORIC GROUND-BREAKING

Birds lived there with their nine children: Alice, Arthur, Anna, Richard, William, Carrie, Edith, Hiram, and Peter.

Sometime after Peter C. Bird's death in 1912, both his house and farm were sold to James Lyons and his wife, Alicia (Richards) Lyons. As a teenager, James Lyons had helped in the building of this brick, Italianate house, and to own it was his longtime dream. The couple had three children: William, Morris, and Martha. Descendants of this family still live in the area today.

In approximately 1923, Walter and Theresa Smolen purchased the house and 160 acres of land. The Smolens' children were: Mary, Theresa (Betty), Lottie (June); Irene (Rose), Frank, John, Julia, Klara (Bonnie), Joe, and Mike — 10 in all! After Mrs. Smolen's death in 1945, negotiations were made and Betty Smolen remained at the homestead. She kept the house until just recently, when the Wayne County Airport expansion forced her to sell. It is hoped that the house will be moved by the County of Wayne and donated to the City of Romulus. Negotiations are now in progress.

In 1855, Samuel R. Kingsley, Sr., and his wife Polly purchased the property where the Kingsley house now stands. Here he made his home and ran Kingsley's general store and post office. Samuel and Polly Kingsley had eight children: William, Sarah, John, Orrin, Samuel R. Jr., Mary, Rhoda, and Zacariah. The home was located at Pullens Corners, the center of town in the early days of Romulus' settlement.

In 1880, Samuel Kingsley Jr. purchased the property from his father; later, in 1901, Samuel and Clara Kingsley sold the home and moved to downtown Romulus. It is not known who owned this house until Albert and Sophia Ozga purchased it and 80 acres in August of 1917.

The Ozga family helped build a new general store, and family members operated it for years. Albert and Sophia reared six children: Pauline, Walter, Stella, Eleanore, Mae, and Stanley. After her marriage to Stanley Smitt, daughter Pauline and her new husband continued to live in the Kingsley home with Pauline's parents. The house was also the site of daughter Eleanore's wedding to a Mr. Bodis in 1935. Albert and Sophia sold their home in 1937; it is not known who the later owners were. If anyone has information concerning the owner or owners of the Kingsley home after 1937, please contact the Romulus Historical Society at the Museum (Sunday afternoons) or by calling 942-2340 (Sunday afternoons).

In 1993, Eugene and Sylvia Perecki donated the S.R. Kingsley house to the City of Romulus. With the help of Block Grant funds, the house is scheduled to be moved to the Historic Park in the near future.

The ground-breaking ceremony was attended by many relatives and descendants of the owners of the Peter C. Bird house. Those in attendance were:

- Bird family: Terrell Bird.
- Lyons family: Albert and Edith Morgan and Kenneth and Joyce Forrest.
- Smolen family: Paul and Betty (Radisovich) Ostrowski, Tony and Christine Ostrowski and children Travis and Miranda, Karen (Ostrowski) Alexander and children Sarah and Emily, Chris and Connie Ostrowski, Patrick Ostrowski, Walter and Ginger Ostrowski, James and Klara (Smolen) Ecker, Richard Dudek and fiancée Susan Schermes, Mary (Smolen) Strzempek (oldest child of Walter and Theresa Smolen), Marianne (Strzempek) Cipkowski, Abigail Cipkowski, Belinda Cipkowski, and Joseph Cipkowski.

Anyone wishing to donate toward the restoration of these two historic houses can make his/her check payable to the Romulus Historical Society and mail it to Gloria Chandler, Treasurer, 9261 Ozga Road, Romulus, MI 48174. □
